Cold plasma is the interaction between a gas (ozone) and an electric current, which produces ionized air, which destroys the superficial cells of the epidermis (basal cells). This destruction will stimulate epidermal regeneration, but also stimulate the production of collagen in the epidermis, which leads to retraction of the skin which will smooth wrinkles and tighten the loose tissue.

This technique also stimulates the formation of new vessels, improves intercellular communication, and strengthens skin immunity at the epidermal barrier, helping to improve acne-prone skin. It is a non-invasive, painless and burn-free procedure.
